2. OBJECT OF THE AGREEMENT

- 2.1. This document sets out the general terms and conditions for the supply of services and the sale of products to the Client by TeleVoIP. By subscribing to the service or purchasing a product, the Client expressly waives its general purchasing conditions.
- 2.2. In the event of a conflict between the documents, the following order of priority shall apply: 1. the order form, order confirmation and any annexes; 2. specific terms and conditions; 3. the General Terms and Conditions; 4. the AUP, unless and insofar as the parties have expressly agreed otherwise in writing.
- 2.3. Amendments or additions to the Agreement will only apply after these have been expressly agreed in writing by TeleVoIP.

- 2.4. TeleVoIP reserves the right to amend these General Terms and Conditions at any time. These amendments will also apply to Agreements that have been already entered into. Amendments will enter effect 30 days after notification, or at another point in time as stated in the notification. If the Client is not reasonably able to accept an amendment, it may terminate the Agreement in writing at the latest by the final day of the month following the month in which the amendment enters effect, without incurring a penalty.

3. SERVICES

- 3.1. TeleVoIP will endeavour to supply the service in accordance with industry standards.
- 3.2. Stated delivery times for services or products are estimates only. Exceeding the delivery time will not give the Client a right to compensation or to terminate the Agreement.
- 3.3. TeleVoIP retains the right to change the service equipment or passwords for the configuration of the network with the understanding that any such change will not fundamentally affect the quality of the service. TeleVoIP will endeavour to inform the client of this in advance. TeleVoIP may suspend the service if it is required to do so for operational reasons or for urgent maintenance.
- 3.4. TeleVoIP will endeavour to ensure that the service has adequate security. However, TeleVoIP will not be liable for any damage arising suffered by the Client and/or a User or third party arising from inadequate security. This applies to call credits, pre-pay clients, post-pay clients and to negative call credit that may result from this inadequate security. If the Client and/or User notices or suspects that a third party has gained unlawful access to the service, for instance by using the password belonging to the Client and/or User, TeleVoIP must be notified within 5 working days. TeleVoIP is not liable for any damage arising from such unlawful use of the service. When using VoIP systems which have extensions that need to be protected with passwords, the Client is responsible for adequately protecting these extensions. TeleVoIP satisfies all of the requirements laid out in the GDPR legislation.
- 3.5. TeleVoIP provides Clients with a technical support service, which can be contacted on mail support@televoip.be, for rectifying faults and helping with difficulties during the establishment of the service. This support is free of charge where it can be shown that the cause of the reported problem or breakdown can be attributed to TeleVoIP's services and the standard operation of these services. Any other external cause or problem will be handled and charged at the specified rates.
- 3.6. The Client's telephone number will be displayed on the call recipient's phone display at the time of making a call if the call recipient's telephone has this functionality and the Client has not objected to the transmission of this information. If the call recipient's phone number is within the coverage of another national provider, the phone number will be transmitted if there is a reciprocal agreement in place with the respective provider. The Client may permanently prevent their phone number from being transmitted by TeleVoIP to the call by using a private number. TeleVoIP will always send the Client's geographic number to the emergency services, even if the Client has opted for a private number. If the Client has opted for a private number, the Client may choose to reveal their number on a call-by-call basis if this functionality is supported by their telephone. When calls are forwarded, only the number of the first connection through which the call is forwarded to the call recipient will be shown to the call recipient. The Client may reject anonymous calls using the paid-for 'anonymous call rejection' option.
- 3.7. The Client may request that their allocated number is ported to TeleVoIP's network from another provider or from TeleVoIP's network to another provider, except where this number is a nomadic number. The Client should contact the provider to which they wish to port their number. This provider will take the necessary steps for the number porting. The Client may be unreachable for a certain period of time during number porting.

- 3.8. The VoIP service through which the Client has been allocated a geographic number provides access to the emergency services unless there is a malfunction of the electricity grid. The Client acknowledges that the VoIP service shall not be used nomadically, such as for avoiding the disclosure of the caller's location to the emergency services. Therefore, the Client will not move its/their telephone or activate it in any place other than that shown in the order form. The Client will be responsible for any costs resulting from unnecessary callouts of the emergency services.
- 3.9. The Client expressly acknowledges that the nomadic VoIP service accompanying the nomadic telephone number allocated to the Client is unable to access to the emergency services. TeleVoIP is not liable for any injury, damage or costs incurred as a result of the fact that the emergency services could not be contacted or could not be contacted in time.
- 3.10. The Client must choose a geographic or nomadic number in the telephone zone where they live or work. If situation changes, or ceases to be valid, TeleVoIP is entitled to allocate a different number at where the Client's residence or place of work is located. The Client's place of residence must be within the territory of Belgium. The Client must provide proof of the location of their residence or place of work. In all events, TeleVoIP cannot be held liable and rules out compensation for loss which may be claimed by the Client.
- 3.11. TeleVoIP retains the right to change the number allocated to the Client in the event of a change to the number plan or a decision by the regulatory body. In this situation, TeleVoIP will make every effort to minimise the impact for the Client.
- 3.12. Calls to Premium Rate Numbers with the 090X prefix and per-minute billing will be automatically limited to a duration of 10 minutes. Calls to Premium Rate Numbers with the 0905 prefix will be blocked if the charge for the caller exceeds €50 (including VAT).
- 3.13. The Client is entitled to a free listing of their details in the Belgian Phone Directory (Witte Gids), as laid down by law.
- 3.14. In accordance with the applicable legislation, TeleVoIP must also communicate the Client's details, and any alteration to these details, to the publishers of telephone directories and suppliers of directory enquiry services unless the number is private, or the Client has expressly stated that they do not wish to be listed.
- 3.15. The Client is responsible for the accuracy of the information that they provide to TeleVoIP. Any changes to the Client's details will be entered as soon as possible in the Witte Gids database and the records of the directory enquiry service. The directory enquiry service with which TeleVoIP has entered into an Agreement will communicate either by telephone or through the internet any non-private number and also other information stored or intended to be stored in its database to any person who requests this.
- 3.16. Clients who receive malicious calls can ask TeleVoIP to identify the number from which the call was made. If it is technically possible to identify the number, TeleVoIP will ask the owner of the number to stop making these calls. If the Client continues to receive nuisance calls, they can contact the Ombudsman Service. When requested by the Ombudsman Service, TeleVoIP will inform the Ombudsman Service of the identity and address of the owner of the number from which the nuisance calls were made, with the aim of disclosing this information to the Client.

- 4.1.i. The charges include a subscription, set-up costs and usage costs, depending on the service. The prices shown on the website and in the price plans or other contractual documents do not include VAT, unless stated otherwise. The prices shown on the website take precedence over the printed prices.
- 4.1.ii. The services must be paid for in advance. The Client is responsible for topping up their call credit in good time. The call credit gives the Client access to various services up to the amount of the call credit balance. The Client can make calls as long as the call credit has not been used up or lost in accordance with Article 8.4. As long as TeleVoIP has not withdrawn the number allocated to the Client in accordance with Article 8.4, the Client will continue to be able to receive calls. The Client is not entitled to any refund of the call credit purchased.
- 4.1.iii. The bill will be sent to the Client by email and can be consulted on the website. Bills contain an overview of the call credit purchased. The Client can obtain a detailed summary on the website for free (provided the Client enters a username and password) of all outgoing and incoming calls.

5. PAYMENT CONDITIONS AND FINANCIAL SECURITY

- 5.1. All bills must be paid within fifteen (15) calendar days of issue.
- 5.2. If a complaint is not lodged by registered post within the payment period, the bill will be irrevocably and unconditionally accepted.
- 5.3. In the event of late or overdue payment, TeleVoIP will email a payment reminder to the email address provided by the Client at the time of subscription, which is deemed to be a notice of default. If the payment reminder is ignored, TeleVoIP will, from the date of the reminder, increase all outstanding amounts with standard late-payment interest at 12% per year, with a minimum of €50. This is notwithstanding TeleVoIP's right to charge a fixed fee (the so-called penalty clause) of 10% with a minimum of €50 for each bill, or its right to claim compensation and interest, and to take any other action, including legal proceedings, which is necessary to guarantee TeleVoIP's interests.
- 5.4. Clients who remain in default will also incur the costs for the notice of default and the investigation costs incurred by the court bailiff and/or lawyer, in addition to the costs of the reminder letters and the exchange of correspondence by registered post incurred by TeleVoIP and/or its advisers.
- 5.5. TeleVoIP may also collect the costs of bounced payments from defaulting Clients if the Client's bank refuses a direct debit. Furthermore, the Client expressly accepts that TeleVoIP may suspend a part or all of the services until all outstanding amounts have been paid in full by the Client. TeleVoIP will deactivate the Client's service(s) which will be billed at the applicable rate. The Client can use the services once again after they have fully settled the outstanding amounts and the advance payments.
- 5.6. If the Client does not rectify their situation by the end of the month following the suspension of the services, TeleVoIP may automatically terminate the Agreement without any further notice of default.
- 5.7. In the event of non-payment or after termination, legal action will be commenced against the Client for the payment of the outstanding amounts, namely the debts (amount of the bills due), standard and fixed-sum interest, the costs of the notice of default and the research fees incurred by the bailiff, but also the legal costs (summons, listing of the case) and the cost of the proceedings as established by Section 1022 of the Belgian Judicial Code on the 'basic amount' stipulated in the Royal Decree of 26/09/07. In any event, the collection costs and the unpaid amounts will remain payable by the Client.
- 5.8. TeleVoIP also has the right to not grant a new subscription to any Client whose account has been in debit as part of a previous Agreement.
- 5.9. If TeleVoIP decides to reactivate the Client, then TeleVoIP has the right to bill a reactivation fee of €25.

- 5.10. The Client undertakes to immediately notify TeleVoIP of any relevant change of circumstances (for instance, a change of address or bank).
- 5.11. If the Agreement comprises the supply of equipment in which ownership is transferred to the Client, TeleVoIP will retain ownership until the moment at which the Client has settled all amounts owing under the Agreement.
- 5.12. Payments made by the Client will be firstly used to settle interest and charges and then to settle the bills that have remained outstanding the longest, even if the Client states that the payment is for a more recent bill.
- 5.13. TeleVoIP retains the right to change or index the prices of its service or products. Changes also apply to Agreements that have already been entered into, and changes will be communicated at least 1 month before they enter effect. In the event of a price increase, the Client has the right to terminate the Agreement without a penalty at the latest by the final day of the month following the receipt of the first invoice after the rate increase has entered effect, except where this concerns indexation.
- 5.14. TeleVoIP retains the right to demand a security from the Client that may not be greater than 20% of the value of the Agreement, following late payment or an incident with the payment, if justified by the amount of the Agreement, if the information provided by the client is incomplete, or if justified by checks on this information. 'Amount of the Agreement' should be understood as the total amount payable under the Agreement by the Client to TeleVoIP or which would be payable during a period of 12 successive months.

- 7.1. The products will be shipped at the Client's risk, even if sent carriage paid.
- 7.2. - 7.3. The Client will only receive a personal, non-transferrable and non-exclusive licence to use the software and the accompanying user documentation provided by TeleVoIP. 22. PAYMENT CONDITIONS OF THE PREMIUM RATE NUMBER SERVICE

- 22.1. The Client will receive a fee for each call by an end user to a Premium Rate Number for which TeleVoIP has received a payment from the access provider in accordance with the terms of the price list. TeleVoIP will inform the Client by email at regular intervals of the calls made to the Premium Rate Number(s) for which TeleVoIP has received a payment from the access provider. The Client will use this record to prepare and send an invoice which TeleVoIP will pay within 30 calendar days of receipt. TeleVoIP will lift the suspension of payment on the Client once the Client's obligations have been met. If the Client breaches the Ethical Code, TeleVoIP retains the right to immediately suspend the service without prior notification. Furthermore, TeleVoIP will deduct any amount concerning the breach of the Ethical Code from the amounts payable to the Client, which will be increased by a fixed-sum payment of €25 per complaint to cover administrative costs. TeleVoIP will also not be under the obligation to pay the Client's invoice that is related to the breach.
- 23.2. If a breach of Article 20.2 has been established or if there has been a serious and/or repeated breach of the terms of Article 20 or of the Ethical Code, TeleVoIP retains the right to terminate the Agreement without prior notice.
